Introduction

This document defines the recommended HR Knowledge Article Library for Company's Workday HCM implementation. This report provides a comprehensive catalogue of 96 step-by-step instructional guides designed to support HR professionals across all 17 Business Units before, during, and after Go-Live on September 2, 2025.

These guides serve two equally important functions. During the 5-day HR training sessions (June 15-19 in Barcelona and June 22-26 in Chicago), they provide the structured reference materials that HR professionals use alongside live system demonstrations. In general, we have identified one guide per process, so participants can follow along and practice in the Workday training tenant. After Go-Live, the same guides are published online as a searchable knowledge base and embedded in the Workday Learning catalog for on-demand access, enabling HR professionals to self-serve answers without waiting for HR and/orHRIS support.

The library is organized by the seven in-scope Workday modules: Navigation & Foundations, Position Management, Talent Acquisition, Onboarding, Core HCM, Performance & Talent, Compensation, Time Off & Leave, Reporting & Prism, and Learning. Within each module, guides are numbered sequentially (e.g., HR-03-16 for the 16th guide in the Talent Acquisition module) and assigned a production priority: Critical (required before the June training), High (required before Go-Live), or Standard (available post-Go-Live).

Purpose and Design Philosophy

Every guide in this library is designed around a single, discrete task. A guide called "How to Approve a Job Offer" covers exactly that action and nothing else. This single-task principle is essential for on-demand usability: when an HRBP receives a job offer approval task in their Workday inbox at 4:45 on a Friday afternoon, they need to find the exact guide for that exact action within seconds.

Each guide follows a consistent seven-section structure:

1. When to use this guide — the triggering event in plain language
2. Before you begin — prerequisites, information to have ready, roles that must be configured
3. Step-by-step instructions — numbered steps with sub-steps, using screenshots from Company's configured Workday tenant
4. What happens next — system routing, notifications, and downstream effects after submission
5. If something goes wrong — two to three specific error scenarios with resolution steps
6. Related guides — cross-references to connected guides in the library
7. Need more help? — HRBP hotline, HRIS support channel, Hypercare office hours schedule

The guide design explicitly bridges SuccessFactors and Workday terminology throughout. Every guide that covers a process that existed in SuccessFactors includes a callout box noting what the equivalent action was called in the previous system. This is grounded in the four design principles that underpin the entire Company training program: Workflow-First Learning, Role-Differentiated Depth, SuccessFactors Bridge, and Hands-On Over Passive learning.

Relationship to the 5-Day HR Training Curriculum

This knowledge article library is not a standalone product. It is the permanent reference infrastructure that supports and extends the 5-day instructor-led curriculum. The mapping below shows how the guide modules align with the 5-day training schedule:

Training Day	Training Focus	Knowledge Article Modules Used
Day 1	Workday Foundations & HCM Core	Module 1 (Navigation), Module 2 (Position Management)
Day 2	Talent Acquisition & Onboarding	Module 3 (Talent Acquisition), Module 4 (Onboarding)

Training Day	Training Focus	Knowledge Article Modules Used
Day 3	Staffing Transactions & Job Changes	Module 5 (Core HCM — Worker Data & Job Changes)
Day 4	Performance, Talent & Compensation	Module 6 (Performance & Goals), Module 7 (Compensation)
Day 5	Leave, Reporting, Learning & Capstone	Module 8 (Time Off & Leave), Module 9 (Reporting), Module 10 (Learning)

Priority Tiers & Production Timeline

Guides are assigned one of three production priority tiers based on the criticality of the process they cover, the frequency with which HR professionals will use them, and the proximity to key project milestones.

Priority Tier	Guide Count	Production Deadline	Criteria
★ Critical	~42 guides	Ready before June HR training	Highest-impact, highest-frequency processes. Processes flagged HIGH in the Change Impact analysis. Required for use as live training materials during the June sessions.
High	~40 guides	Ready before September 2 Go-Live	Supporting processes, approver steps, exception handling, and country-specific variations. Required in the online library from Day 1 of Go-Live.
Standard	~14 guides	Available post-Go-Live	Lower-frequency processes, role-specific edge cases, and processes that have limited Day-1 urgency. Completed as the library is built out post-launch.

Screenshot production is the critical dependency for all guides. Screenshots must come from Company's configured Workday tenant (not generic Workday training environments) so guides accurately reflect Company's data, field configurations, and approval structures. Tenant access is targeted for March 9, 2025. Guide production for the June training sessions must begin no later than March 17 to allow time for drafting, Company review, and formatting.

Guide Numbering Convention

Each guide follows the naming convention HR-[Module]-[Sequence], for example:

8. HR-01-03 = Module 1 (Navigation), Guide 3 (How to Use Your Inbox)
9. HR-03-16 = Module 3 (Talent Acquisition), Guide 16 (How to Create and Send a Job Offer)
10. HR-05-16 = Module 5 (Core HCM), Guide 16 (How to Process an Involuntary Termination)

This numbering system is stable. Guide IDs do not change if guides are added or removed. New guides added after initial release will receive the next available sequence number in the relevant module.

Module 1 — Workday Navigation & System Fundamentals

These guides are available to all HR professionals regardless of role. They cover the foundational skills every HR user must have from their first login: navigating the Workday interface, finding workers, understanding the inbox, and setting up mobile access. All Module 1 Critical-priority guides should be distributed to HR participants before the June training sessions begin so participants arrive with basic navigation confidence.

Module 2 — Position Management

Position Management is one of the most significant structural changes in the Company Workday implementation. Unlike SuccessFactors, Workday uses position-based management as the foundation of the entire HCM architecture. HRBPs and HR Sys Admins must understand how to create, edit, freeze, and close positions before any staffing transactions (hires, transfers, terminations) can be processed. All position management actions require AAHA approval routing.

Module 3 — Talent Acquisition

The Talent Acquisition module covers the full recruiting lifecycle from job requisition through to the Hire (Ready to Hire) step. The primary users are Recruiters and HRBPs. Key design decisions from the Phase 0 workshops have significantly changed how recruiting is executed at Company: hiring managers now initiate requisitions directly (previously an HR-only task), offer letters are generated through standardized country-specific templates, and the full approval chain is managed in Workday rather than by email. These guides support both the changed initiator roles and the HR/HRBP approver and governance responsibilities.

Module 4 — Onboarding & Preboarding

Onboarding is one of the four core focus areas from the Phase 0 change impact work and carries HIGH adoption risk, particularly around new hire credential and login complexity for hourly and production workers, and around I-9/E-Verify role clarity across Business Units. These guides are designed to equip HR Operations and HRBPs to manage the full pre- and post-Day-1 onboarding workflow in Workday, and to be the primary support resource for managers and new hires who encounter issues during their first days. The I-9 role assignment guide (HR-04-07) is especially critical: multiple Business Units flagged role ambiguity as a compliance risk during Group 3 onboarding sessions.

Module 5 — Core HCM: Worker Data & Job Changes

Module 5 is the largest module in the library and covers the most complex set of day-to-day HR transactions: personal information changes, job changes, staffing transactions, and terminations. These processes were flagged as HIGH impact across the Change Impact analysis, and many involve shared initiation between managers and HR depending on the transaction type. The guides in this module are essential reading for HRBPs and HR Sys Admins and will be among the most frequently accessed guides in the post-Go-Live knowledge base.

Module 6 — Performance, Goals & Talent Management

Performance management represents one of the most significant cultural and process shifts in the Company Workday implementation. Many Business Units are moving from informal, HR-coordinated processes to structured system-driven workflows with defined timelines, formal self-assessments, and visible calibration. HR's role shifts from process executor to process enabler — coaching managers, monitoring completion, facilitating calibration sessions, and escalating issues. The guides in this module equip HRBPs and HR Talent teams to manage and govern the full performance cycle.

Module 7 — Compensation

Compensation management covers both Core Compensation (individual changes, one-time payments, grade management) and Advanced Compensation (the annual merit, bonus, and long-term incentive cycle). HR's role shifts from spreadsheet-based process execution to system enablement and oversight, helps support managers through the compensation planning UI, resolving submission errors, and ensuring compliance with country-specific regulations and union requirements. Proration logic is a particular area of complexity flagged in the CCS 2 design sessions.

HR-07-08	How to Run a Compensation Summary Report for Your Population	HRBP · HR Analyst	High
HR-07-09	How to Handle Country-Specific Compensation Compliance Requirements	HRBP (EMEA) · HR Sys Admin	High

Module 8 — Time Off & Leave of Absence

A critical scoping clarification from the CCS 2 design sessions: Workday is being used for Leave of Absence tracking only. It does not apply for routine time off requests such as vacation and sick leave. Those continue through ADP Workforce Manager. Only formal leave (FMLA, personal leave, etc.) is managed in Workday. This distinction must be clearly communicated during training and embedded in the guide introductions, so HR professionals do not attempt to manage routine time off in Workday post-Go-Live.

Guide ID	Guide Title	Primary Audience	Priority
HR-08-01	How Leave of Absence is Tracked in Workday — What Is and Is Not In-Scope	HR Ops · HRBP	★ Critical

HR-08-04	How to Monitor Leave of Absence Status for Your Population	HRBP	High
HR-08-05	Leave of Absence — Country-Specific Considerations (FMLA, UK, Germany)	HR Ops (EMEA/US)	High

Module 9 — Reporting & Prism Analytics

Workday's reporting capabilities represent a significant upgrade from SuccessFactors, replacing manual Excel-based tracking with real-time dashboards and built-in reports. HRBPs and HR Analysts will use reporting as a daily tool for monitoring headcount, tracking process completion, and preparing for calibration sessions. Guide HR-09-05 (Key HR Reports Every HRBP Should Know) is a reference card-style guide that should be printed and provided to every HRBP at the June training sessions.

Module 10 — Learning

Workday Learning is administered by the Company Corporate Learning Administration Team. These guides support Learning Administrators in creating and managing the learning catalog, as well as HR professionals and managers who assign, approve, and track learning for their populations. Note that the Learning module guides support the Day 5 Train-the-Trainer content and are therefore also essential reference materials for the HRIS team who will deliver refresher training post-Go-Live.

Guide Design Standards

Each guide in the library must follow this standard seven-section structure. Consistency in structure is what makes the library searchable and trustworthy — HR professionals should be able to pick up any guide and immediately know where to find the information they need.

Section	Content Standard
Header	Guide ID · Title · Target Audience · Last Updated date · Version number
When to use this guide	One sentence describing the specific triggering event in plain business language. Example: "Use this guide when a manager requests a transfer for one of their direct reports and you need to review and approve the job change in Workday." Never describe a topic — always describe a trigger.
Before you begin	Information to have ready before starting (employee ID, effective date, etc.), roles that must be configured in the system, predecessor steps that must be complete, and any Business Unit-specific prerequisites.
Step-by-step instructions	Numbered steps with numbered sub-steps. Every step that involves navigating to a page must name the menu path. Every step that involves completing a field must name the field. Screenshots come from Company's configured Workday tenant only.
What happens next	What the system does after submission: approval routing sequence, who receives inbox tasks, system-generated notifications, effective date logic, and downstream impacts on payroll, benefits, or other systems.
If something goes wrong	Two to three specific, named error scenarios HR is likely to encounter, with exact resolution steps. Never use generic "contact your administrator" guidance. Examples: "Requisition locked for editing — how to resolve," "AAHA approval step not appearing — why and what to check."
Related guides	Cross-references to three to five related guides by Guide ID and title. Example: after the Job Change guide, link to HR-05-09 (Approval Routing), HR-05-10 (Retract Submission), and HR-07-02 (Compensation Change).
Need more help?	HRBP support contact, HRIS support channel (name and contact method), Hypercare office hours schedule (Sept 2-19 dates and times), and escalation path.

Screenshot Production Requirements

All screenshots in these guides must be taken from Company's configured Workday tenant — not from generic Workday training environments. This requirement is non-negotiable: Company's configured instance reflects Company's data structures, field configurations, approval routing, and Business Unit-specific settings. Screenshots from generic Workday environments will show field names, options, and layouts that do not match what Company HR professionals see in their actual system, which undermines trust in the guides and increases support call volume.

Tenant access is targeted for March 9, 2026. Guide production for the June training sessions must begin no later than March 17. The following sequence is recommended:

11. Week of March 17: Begin Modules 1 and 2 (Navigation and Position Management) — foundational skills that every other module depends on
12. Week of March 24: Begin Module 3 (Talent Acquisition) — longest module with 21 guides
13. April: Complete Modules 4 and 5 (Onboarding and Core HCM)
14. May: Complete Modules 6 and 7 (Performance and Compensation) and begin Module 9 (Reporting)
15. June: Final review, Company approval, and formatting for training materials package
16. July-August: Complete Modules 8 and 10 and all remaining High and Standard priority guides

Delivery Format and Access

Each guide should be produced as a single PDF (not as a Word document) so that it renders consistently across devices, cannot be accidentally edited by end users, and can be embedded in both the Company intranet knowledge base and the Workday Learning catalog without conversion.

Guides should be available through three access points simultaneously from Go-Live Day 1:

17. Company intranet knowledge base — searchable by Guide ID, title, keyword, and module
18. Workday Learning catalog — each guide published as a "document" learning item so HR professionals can access it directly from within Workday without leaving the system
19. Printed job aids — a subset of the highest-priority guides (the 42 Critical guides) should be printed and distributed to all HR training participants at the June sessions

Connection to the Manager Guide Library

This HR Knowledge Article Library is designed to complement the 42-guide Manager Step-by-Step Guide Library produced separately. The two libraries use compatible guide structures and cross-reference each other where HR and manager responsibilities intersect on the same transaction. For example:

20. When an HR professional needs to support a manager through a job change: HR-05-08 (How to Review and Approve a Manager-Initiated Job Change) cross-references MGR-04-01 (How to Initiate a Job Change in Workday)
21. When an HR professional needs to explain the new hire credential process to a manager: HR-04-02 (How the New Hire Login and Credential Process Works) cross-references MGR-03-02 (Guiding Your New Hire Through Their First Login)

HRBPs who will be coaching and supporting managers post-Go-Live should be provided with access to both libraries and should be familiar with the Manager guide structure as part of their Train-the-Trainer preparation.

Appendix — Complete Guide Index

The following table provides a complete alphabetical index of all 96 guides in the library for quick reference and production tracking. Production teams can use this as a status-tracking checklist by adding a Status column (Draft / In Review / Company Approved / Published).
